(7) Enabling a National health surveillance plan (1/2)

I Why?

- ▶ The design and implementation of a successful health surveillance plan will avoid negative reactions among the population;
- ▶ Organization, implementation and control of the protective actions;
- ▶ Devising countermeasure strategies that consider wider societal and psychological factors (impact of loss of livelihoods, stigmatisation, loss of jobs, additional work, etc).

A well established national health plan will assure the population that the protective action are adequate and will create a better acceptance of these actions.

(7) Enabling a National health surveillance plan (2/2)

How?

- ▶ Pre identifying health facilities that can provide the surveillance plan
- ▶ Enabling these facilities with psychological and social care included in the surveillance plan
